HALE BROS. & CO.

WE DO NOT PRETEND

—TO—

Make Any Logical Arguments,

—BUT—

We use these columns to state simple facts—facts so simple, that even a school child cannot fail to comprehend, but for this none the less forcible.

Our store has been packed, just literally crowded with customers from morn until night, as thousands can testify who came and received a part of the unparalleled values given by us, which proves conclusively that our goods are bought and sold away below; so low down, that our advantages stand out in bold relief and favorably defy comparison, notwithstanding the vapid arguments of some.

—THE POPULARITY TO WHICH OUR—

BOOTS and SHOES!

Have grown is very commendable, YET NOT WITHOUT JUST AND SUFFICIENT REASONS.

Last year our firm was the largest importers of any on the Pacific coast—barring the wholesale houses of San Francisco—yes, as three is to one; purchasing in the past year upwards of $800,000 worth of goods for our five living institutions. Is it any wonder, then that we do easily undersell? CASH places our account at once valuable, and one to be sought after in any market that we choose to buy in. We have buyers of long experience in the East, but they are under the personal supervision of one of the firm, as our Mr. HALE spends in the Eastern markets at least six months in the year, so as to make arrangements for the heaviest purchases. During his trip last Spring, he made some excellent acquaintances with prominent BOOT AND SHOE HOUSES, visiting the principal markets for these goods, and selecting from specialties the very best, in such well-known Boot and Shoe Headquarters as Lynn, Brockton, Stoughton, Spencer and others, all centering into Boston, as well as making favorable arrangements with the best manufacturers in each of the following places, and they all have their specialties: New York, Philadelphia, Rochester and New England.

We do not claim to have the largest stock, BUT WE DO CLAIM TO HAVE THE BEST ASSORTED, AND AT THE MOST POPULAR PRICES.

We do not claim to have the best accommodations in our Boot and Shoe Department, but we do guarantee that you will receive polite and courteous attention.

We do not claim that we have the cheapest goods in the market, but WE DO CLAIM THAT FOR QUALITY OUR PRICES ARE AWAY BELOW THEM ALL. We have not yet come to the conclusion, that in order to overcome severe competition, it is necessary to buy them out at 100 cents on the dollar that we may get the better prices. Competition or no competition, hot and heavy, or quiet and docile, it is all the same to us, as our prices will remain the same stumbling block to all competition.

To finish, we would say that we are adding to our BOOTS AND SHOES as fast as room will permit, and they now comprise some very choice goods, at low down prices.

Takes the Cake—Some time ago a horse that had become unfit for duty was sold by Chief Benedict to a baker on the "Hill." One day the horse was standing on Halsey street, near Fire Department headquarters, when the bell struck for Box No. 61, which is on the corner of Springfield avenue and William street. The horse pricked up his ears and apparently counted the box, for he watched until the first round was rung, and then off he started at a mad gallop down Halsey street, up Market street and Springfield avenue straight to the box. Nothing could stop him; the baker wagon was demolished, the bread and cake scattered along the streets, but on he went until the fire was reached. He had belonged to No. 3 steamer, and was used to answering that box.—[Newark Daily Advertiser.

UTILIZING SEA WAVES.—The recent progresss of electric machines has largely directed attention to the economical production of force. The sea, with its tides and surge, offers stores of force little utilized as yet. Two schemes for turning the wave motion of the sea to good account have lately appeared. M. Victor Gauchez (whose method is described in La Nature) would suspend a large float by ropes from a pully outside of a stone inclosure built a short way from the beech. Within the inclosure is a bell shaped iron vessel, suspended from a central pully system, connected with the float pulley. This moves up and down in correspondence with the float, on a block of masonry, which has passages communicating with the air space above and with a pipe below, which extends to a reservoir on shore. The bell in rising sucks in air through valves on its upper surface, and in falling forces the air along the passages to the reservoir. The ropes are always kept taught by means of a weight hung in air from a pulley connected with the central system, and the bell has at its lower part a caoutchouc membrane connected with the block of masonry. M. Gauchez specifies the dimensions which, he thinks, would insure a rapid flow into the reservoir and involve no excessive heating. In the other sch by Professor Wellner, of Brunn (an of which appears in Dingler's there is fixed along a sea wall trap—a metallic air, now in wat At the top valves and the air is supplie pur

OLD FRIENDS.

The old, old friends!
Some changed; some buried; some gone out of sight;
Some enemies, and in the world's swift fight
No time to make amends.

The old, old friends—
Where are they? Three are lying in one grave;
And one from the far-off world on the daily wave
No loving message sends.

The old, dear friends!
One passes daily; and one wears a mask;
Another long estranged cares not to ask
Where causeless anger ends.

The dear old friends,
So many and so fond in days of youth!
Alas! that Faith can be divorced from Truth,
When love in severance ends.

The old, old friends!
They hover round me still in evening shades;
Surely they shall return when sunlight fades,
And life on God depends.

COURTING IN A SARATOGA GRAVEYARD.

Eli Perkins writes this conversation to the New York Commercial Advertiser from Saratoga:

"I don't think there is as much genuine love-making in Saratoga nowadays as there used to be years ago," said old Sexton Palmerston as he leaned on his spade. "They all seem to be going for money. Why, I haven't had four genuine love cases in the graveyard this year. Now, when a man is going for money you don't see him bringing his girl over here."

"How does he act when he's going for money?" I asked.

"Why, he spends his time around the florist's; he heaps presents on her; keeps her room full of flowers; hands chairs on the balcony; always stands ready with her music programme; looks after her mail; always compliments her clothes, and—"

"And what else?" I asked impatiently.

"Why, the courting for money lover even looks after his sweetheart's table. He even goes and bribes the head cook to send her chicken livers en brochette, woodcock and Spanish mackerel. The cooks always have these delicacies for guests provided they are well paid for them. Oh! he gives his girl an elegant time, but there's no love in it."

"But how does the all for love young man go to work?" I interrupted.

"Why, he don't fool around at a distance," said the old sexton, "with bouquets, and chairs, and programmes, and nice breakfasts. He just quietly walks his sweetheart over to this graveyard, and, sitting on one of those benches out under the trees yonder, he takes her hand and whispers right on her ear-pan. He sits right down and attacks her heart. He don't fool around buying flowers for her eyes, nor candies for her tongue, nor perfumes for her nose; he just gets his arm right around her heart, and when it begins to throb and when her cheeks get red and warm he knows that girl is his'n. (Don't stand so near the grave, or it'll cave in.) Why, that girl'd rather have one hour of our warm graveyard courting than 400 years of such iceberg courting as I see going on over in the States' parlors. There are lots of darned fool fellows from New York over there dead in love with the different girls. They can't help it; such splendid, sweet, clean, kissable girls (I wish I had a chew of tobacco), but the darned fools don't know how to court them. Now and then one understands how to do it, and he'll bring his girl over here. Why, one hour with a pretty girl on one of my graveyard seats, a day, is worth more to a real lover than six weeks of flirting on the States' balcony."

"You seem to know all about the lovers in Saratoga?" I said, as I took the old sexton's spade in my hand.

"Well, I ought to know. I've seen this courtin' goin' on for forty years. (By jiminy, there's a bone! I'm getting too near that other grave.) I see old gray-headed men every day riding up here in carriages who courted their wives in this graveyard forty years ago. There was R. L. Stuart, the wealthy sugar refiner—"

"But he's an old bachelor," I interrupted.

"Never mind that. I tell you my bes could tell why he never got mar loved the girl well enough, and—" se do you remember seeing there was Mr. Winston, of the Mutual Life. He used to walk around here, thirty years ago, with a beautiful blonde girl. I can see him now, kissing that girl—but I'm not going to tell all I know. Andrew H. Green, he married a girl he courted in my graveyard. Fernando Wood used to have a seat here, and Charles A. Dana, he used to know, forty years ago, all about flirting in a graveyard. Old James Watson Webb used to walk the young ladies up here fifty years ago, and his son, the doctor, why, he could never get along at all courting Miss Vanderbilt till he got her away from the stuck-up States Hotel, and found himself one day in one of my seats. I knew Vanderbilt would lose a daughter that night. I tell you; these graveyard seats mean business every time. Did I ever have any Senators or Governors on my seats? Why, of course. Senator Kernan courted two girls at once in this graveyard, and President Arthur knows where all the best seats are. They needn't be ashamed of it, either, for Hamilton and De Witt Clinton used to do the same thing when they were boys. Boys will be boys," continued the old man, as he jumped out of the grave, "and girls will be girls. Girls with big hearts like to be loved, and fellows with big hearts will kiss and love them. I don't care how straight their parents will make them sit up down at the States, they will occasionally get away and come up here in the graveyard to act natural, and I'm the last man to hinder 'em. Why I often keep these graveyard gates open till nine o'clock when there are genuine lovers enough around to warrant it. I don't mean flirters. I mean real, genuine lovers."

"But how do the lovers manage down at Long Branch and over to Newport, when they have no graveyards handy?" I asked.

"I don't know, but they have mating places somewhere. I 'spect they sit out in the sand under the bluffs, or sits around under umbrellas in the pavilions, or get in dismal corners on the balconies. They're got to—by gosh, they're got to!"

That's what the old Saratoga graveyard philosopher said.

THE DIGNIFIED HARNEY.—The following story is told of General Harney when he was in command at Camp Verde, Texas. He was an intensely dignified officer, and if there was one thing he detested more than another, it was undignified haste. One evening, just as he was about to hold dress parade, he perceived that he had forgotten his handkerchief, and as the weather was very hot, he said to his orderly, "Go to my quarters, quick, and bring me my handkerchief." The orderly touched his cap, and started for the quarters, several hundred yards distant. After he had proceeded a short distance, remembering there was no time to lose, he broke into a trot. "See that scoundrel running as if the Indians were after him. If there is anything I hate it is to see a soldier running instead of marching properly. Here, my man," continued Harney to another soldier, "go after that man and tell him I say to walk." The second soldier started after the first, but as the first one kept on running, the second one saw his only chance to deliver his message was to hurry up, so he, too, broke into a run. To say that Harney swore is to use a mild expression. "Here, Sergeant, go after that man and tell him if he don't stop running I'll hang him up by the thumbs." The Sergeant started out in a brisk walk, but as his predecessor had a good start, he, too, began to run as hard as he could. "If all three of the scoundrels ain't running like jack rabbits," ejaculated Harney. "I'll show 'em." And tucking his sword under his arm he started in pursuit as fast as he could run; but suddenly remembering his dignity, he came to a halt, and walked stiffly and slowly back to the place where the dress parade was to come off.—[Galveston News.

A WELSH CURE FOR THE AGUE.—Being in the new church of Aber, Carnarvonshire, lately, I was looking at the old font, rought from the ancient church there hen it was demolished to make room for e present new edifice, and noticing four ular hollows on the rim, suggested that ncient cover or canopy of the font bly sprang from them or fitted into "Nay," said the venerable rector; people say that they were caused by ping away the stone; dust from the ch font mixed in water and drunk y in the morning being considered a e for the ague."—[From Notes and eries.

THE IRISH CONSTABULARY.

The disaffection of the Irish Constabulary appears to be deep rooted, and not to yield to the efforts of the Government. The promise that the grievances of the corps should be looked into only pacified the men for a short time, and now they appear to be on the verge of a general strike, or wholesale emigration. They are, of course, fully aware of their own importance, and know that government in Ireland cannot be carried on without them. It would not be possible to replace this highly trained corps at short notice, and should they resign in a body very serious consequences might follow. The Government, therefore, is certain to yield as far as possible to their demands, and if they are not altogether unreasonable they ought to be able to make their own terms. At present, however, a large number of them seem disposed to leave the service in any event, and to emigrate.

OPEN DEFIANCE.

After the adjournment of Congress a large number of departmental places were filled by the President, and they were all filled on the old plan; that is to say, certain Senators and Congressmen were allowed so many appointments each, and political reasons alone dictated the whole of them. Civil service reform was deliberately and openly ignored. No attempt was made to examine any of the appointees as to their fitness. Yet this happened immediately upon the [illegible] of a session in which an appropriation was made for the purpose of carrying out the law on the civil service examinations, and in the teeth of the strongest public sentiment on the subject that has ever existed. It is evident that civil service reform will not take place until the "machine" men are thrust neck and heels out of power. Then, and not till then, will they understand that they have mistaken public opinion.

CAMERON.

The dispatch to the effect that D[illegible] Cameron has already lost the campaign [illegible] Pennsylvania is of course premature. [illegible] is to be hoped that he will lose it, since i[illegible] is essential to the further existence of the Republican party that the "bosses" should be eliminated. No good, however, can be done by sending statements which have no facts to rest upon, and which are in fact mere surmises, in which the wish was father to the thought. It will be time enough to talk of Don Cameron's defeat when the election has been held, and the returns are all counted.

THE REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

The Republican State Convention will meet in this city to-day to nominate a State ticket and to formulate a platform of issues and principles. Upon the character of its work the result of the campaign will depend. It is a representative body, in the highest sense of the term, and the party is entitled to expect from it wise and manly action. The Democrats have made two flagrant blunders in arranging their campaign. They have thrown down the gage to all the intelligent, progressive and decent elements in the State, by declaring against all legislation for the maintenance of the Sunday holiday. They have sought to cover and conceal this blunder by making a false issue—the railroad question—the dominant one. The Republican party cannot afford to copy them in either of these matters. It is the party of equal and exact justice to all men, classes and interests. It is the party which has under its protection the commerce and industries of the country. Its record is that of an organization which has at all times aided the development of the national resources by enlightened, judicious and timely legislation. Under the State Constitution the management of the transportation question has been assigned to a Board of Commissioners with ample powers. To secure the proper performance of the duties of this Commission it is only necessary that honest and capable men should be put in nomination. Such nominations will afford a sufficient guarantee to the people for the protection of their interests. The Republican party is not called upon to follow the demagogues who at San Jose undertook to make a stalking-horse of the anti-railroad cry. If the Convention is wisely directed it will take a conservative position on the railroad question. It will declare itself in favor of equity and justice to corporations as well as to individuals. It will recognize the value to the State of the transportation interest, and will refuse to condemn that interest on the loose and reckless assertions of ignorant and malignant persons. The Democracy can be successfully encountered on this basis. It cannot sustain the position it has taken. It has already been made clear to the lowest comprehension, by Governor Stanford's open letter, that the charges upon which the Democrats rely are false and fraudulent, and that the facts which they are misrepresenting as evidence of injustice on the part of the railroad, are on the contrary beneficial to the public, and necessary to the development of the transportation system.

The Republicans can carry the election by taking a conservative stand upon this question. They cannot do so by following the line of their opponents. The way to defeat demagogism is to avoid even the appearance of it. The people can only be deceived by Democratic subterfuges if the Republicans indorse those subterfuges themselves. Let the Convention nominate for Governor a man whose reputation is already made; who has held public office, and done credit to it; whose probity and honor are beyond question. Let them put such a man upon a platform which eschews all demagogism, which promises fairness and justice to all interests, which recognizes the community of interest between the people and the commercial agencies which serve them, which expresses itself clearly and unmistakably in favor of the maintenance of the Sunday holiday; and they will beat the Democrats at the polls. But no other course can win. A platform which merely echoes that of San Jose would be an invitation to the people to vote the Democratic ticket. Nor can the Sunday question be dealt [illegible] an evasive way. It is not sufficient [illegible]are in favor of maintaining the [illegible]nday law, for that is notoriously [illegible]. It is necessary to declare in favor of such legislation as will render the abolition of the Sunday holiday impossible; as will secure one day's rest in seven to every man, woman and child in the State; as will secure to all the best conditions for spending the rest day according to their desires. Cowardice in matters of this kind always defeats the purposes of those who are afraid to take a definite position. No faction will be satisfied with a lukewarm, facing-both-ways Sunday plank. It must be either a feeble echo of the Democratic resolution, or a bold and clear-cut opposition to it.

The Republican party, by taking the second of these positions, will secure the active aid and influential sympathy of thousands of intelligent men. It has little to fear from the elements which approve of the Democratic attitude, for nine-tenths of them are already members of the Democratic party. The best elements in the State are anxiously awaiting the action of the Convention on this question. If it does what they desire they will go to work with enthusiasm to elect the Republican ticket. If on the other hand temporizing or evasion is resorted to, there will be no enthusiasm among these elements. In selecting a ticket the Convention will, we trust, put no confidence in pledges, but choose only such men as are their own best guarantees. Let them remember that when it is thought necessary to pledge candidates, the implication is discreditable to the candidates; while men who cannot be trusted without pledges never can be trusted with them. The class of candidates who are willing and eager to promise any and everything demanded of them by a Convention, are certain to repudiate their engagements with equal facility when they have been elected. Character is after all the only guarantee for integrity and fidelity, and if a ticket is chosen all the members of which are men of known honor and capacity, the people will appreciate the work of the Convention, and indorse it.

The Sunday law and the railroad questions are the two principal ones upon which the Convention will have to speak, and they are test questions. The people of California have had enough experience of so-called anti-monopoly movements to be aware that they are always the instrumentalities of hypocrites and schemers. No instance can be cited in which any public good has resulted from them, and therefore the party that has the courage to strike out a new line, and to reject the temptation to demagogism, will be assured of the approval of every intelligent and conscientious mind. The corporations ask nothing more than justice. They seek no special privileges or immunities. They only insist upon their right to be accorded due credit for what they have done, and to be protected against malignant persecution, which in nine cases out of ten is the work either of professional blackmailers, or unscrupulous demagogues who are seeking office by inflaming popular passion and prejudice. By taking a candid and straightforward course on these issues, the Republican Convention can secure the success of the ticket. But the time is past when thinking men could be induced to tolerate the insincere and [illegible]honest clap-trap which politicians h[illegible]ersistently put forward in the [illegible] principles, and the Conven[illegible]istake if it failed [illegible] and merely [illegible]he Demo[illegible]r things [illegible]o ex[illegible] es[illegible] mad[illegible] went [illegible] Mr. S[illegible] tion c[illegible] Governo[illegible] ed in t[illegible]

would not publish it, though it had previously discussed the questions which Governor Stanford answered, and though it had been forced to admit that these questions presented all the salient points of the controversy very fairly. No better proof than this could be afforded of the cowardice and unfairness of Hearst's organ. It will not publish Governor Stanford's letter because it cannot meet his arguments, and because it realizes that its readers would by these arguments be convinced of the falsity of its position on the railroad question. Indeed, it is noticeable that the most blatant anti-railroad sheets, including the Chronicle, have in like manner ignored the Stanford letter. The reason of this is too clear to need explanation. They are afraid to give it to their readers, because if they did they would be compelled to confess that they had been lying about the whole question. The Republican Convention may see from this incident how hollow and fraudulent is the anti-railroad position. It only needs to be encountered boldly and the whole edifice of fraud and fiction will melt away. The anti-railroad organs dare not allow the President of the Central Pacific Railroad to defend his corporation in their columns. When he vindicates the course of his company these journals do all in their power to prevent the public from hearing what he has to say. This fact is significant enough of the true character of the anti-railroad howl.

PROBABLY A FALSE REPORT.

The account of a successful repulse of the first division of the English army by the Egyptians is not confirmed by any subsequent information. On the contrary the Egyptians appear to be retreating from day to day, and to be defeated whenever they venture to make a stand. So far as known General Wolseley has not acknowledged a check of any kind, and as he certainly could not have ignored so decided a repulse as the dispatches of Sunday night reported, the rational presumption is that the alleged defeat of the British troops did not occur. The scattered information from several points which comes to hand indicates that the Egyptian army is mainly composed of peasants taken from their farms, and that it is suffering greatly for want of supplies. The English are themselves very greatly discommoded by the intense heat of the desert, but if they can stand this for a few days they will be able to force Arabi to give them battle, and General Wolseley may then decide the campaign at a single blow.

The Kewanee Bank Robbery.

KEWANEE (Ill.), August 29th.—Great excitement exists over the arrest of Pratt, the Cashier of the First National Bank, on a charge of complicity in the recent robbery, in which the thieves got away with $20,000. The arrest has just been made, and the detectives claim to have plenty of evidence to sustain the charge.

CHICAGO, August 29th.—Edward N. Welsh, arrested three or four days ago in New York for robbing the First National Bank of Kewanee, Ill., passed through the city this evening, en route to Kewanee, in charge of the detective who arrested him. The Detective Agency, which has charge of the case, says he made a confession, the effect of which is that Dr. J. S. Scott, of St. Louis, formerly a resident of Kewanee, planned the robbery, though he took no direct part in it; that Pratt, the acting Cashier, was a party to it, and instead of the large sum in gold notes missing being carried away in a valise with the other money, it was Pratt who carried it off previous to the day when Welsh and his companions locked Pratt and Mrs. Harris in the vault, and carried away the remainder, mostly in paper money. Welsh refused to give the name of the man who helped him in the job.

Miss Bond's Condition.

SS. LOUIS, August 29th.—A special from Taylorsville, Ill., says: Emma Bond was resting quietly at midnight, but the attending physicians agree that she has a poor chance for recovery. Death is expected within a few days. It was thought once yesterday that she was dead, respiration having ceased for a while. She has been, at times, conscious, and once or twice was found to be raving. On one of these occasions her father says she went over the former statement about the outrage as made by the Prosecuting Attorney, and detailed every circumstance without varying in the least from the written statement. While in this condition she made some remarks that reflected very seriously upon one of the prisoners.

[SECOND DISPATCH.]

TAYLORVILLE (Ill), August 29th.—Miss Emma Bond, the victim of the recent outrage, remains delirious, and the physicians say she cannot remain many days in delirium. She went over the scene of the outrage, telling the same story she told the prosecuting attorney. Bail has been arranged for Montgomery, Pettis and Clemente, the alleged perpetrators of the fiendish deed, but they prefer safety inside the jail to freedom.

There are several cases at Point Isabella. Two Tampico refugees died recently with fever, eighty miles from here, and on the way towards Corpus Christi. Seven deaths are reported at Matamoras, with a few new cases. The weather is sultry.

FOREIGN.

The War in Egypt.

ISMAILIA, August 29th.—A dragoon signaling on the banks of the canal near Magouta was shot dead by Arabi. This shows the hostility of the people around here. Among the things captured Friday was a tent, said to be that of Arabi Pasha, and two standards.

During the fighting the Bedouins occasionally showed much courage. Several hand-to-hand encounters occurred. One man stood his ground alone, wounded a trooper, seized his sword and made two thrusts at an English officer before he was cut down.

The Duke of Connaught's brigade remains at Mahmoud for the present.

A boat supplying the posts on the canal with provisions was fired on by the Bedouins near here to-day, and four of her Malese crew were wounded and the boat plundered.

General Wilkinson, of the Indian Division, arrived yesterday to confer with General Wolseley, escorted by the Bengal Lancers, who rode from Suez in two days, a feat which speaks volumes for the condition of their horses. Mahmoud Fehmy asserts that the troops cannot come from Kafr-el-Dwar to Tel-el-Kebir, as Arabi Pasha holds several of the leading Bedouin chiefs as hostages for the good behavior of their tribes.

PORT SAID, August 29th.—If the absurd stories circulated by Arabi Pasha of British atrocities were disproved the majority of Arabi's troops would desert. A large force of the Bedouins of Kafr-el-Dwar, belonging to the tribes of Oulada and at Al Salehak and 15,000 belonging to the tribe of Tab'ran, are remaining faithful to Arabi Pasha through fear. All are prepared to lay down their arms when the British advance.

ALEXANDRIA, August 29th.—The enemy is still strengthening their left. They sent out an armored train again last evening. The man-of-war Minotaur has shifted her position to about a thousand yards nearer Aboukir. General Wood has gone to reconnoiter Meks.

ALEXANDRIA, August 29th.—The report of the death of Toubla Pasha is confirmed.

ALEXANDRIA, August 29th.—Toubla Pasha was poisoned.

LONDON, August 29th.—A report received to-day from Alexandria that General Wolseley arrived at Zagazig, is doubtless untrue.

ALEXANDRIA, August 29th.—Slight skirmishing has taken place to-day at Ramleh.

LONDON, August 29th.—General Wolseley telegraphs from Ismailia at 1:40 o'clock this morning as follows: "Have just received news from the front that General Graham was heavily attacked last evening by a large force of Egyptians. LONDON, August 29th.—The Turkish account of the fighting on the frontier between the Turks and Greeks is as follows: Some Greek troops attempted to take forcible possession of the disputed territory of Karalik Dervena, on the Thessalian frontier, but they were repulsed with heavy loss by the Turks under Ragheb Pasha. Eight men were killed on the Turkish side.

Races at Petaluma.

PETALUMA, August 29th.—The first race to-day on the new track was trotting, 2:50 class, for a purse of $400, with the following entries: Placeda, Huntress and Como. Previous to the race Como sold in the pools for $20, and all the others $16. Huntress won the first heat, which was well contested, Como second, Placeda third, Emma Taylor and Rosco distanced. Time, 2:40½. After the announcement of the result Huntress was the favorite in the pools, selling for $20 to the others $16. The second heat was a race from end to end, Huntress and Como going side by side most of the way, with Placeda close in the rear. Como won the heat by a neck. Time, 2:39½. Now the pools reversed, and again Como was selling as previous to the first heat. In the third heat Huntress started off in the lead, closely pressed by Como, who lapped her at the quarter, but the mare was too hot for him, and he broke and fell back one length, which he made up by honest work to the half, where he again left his feet and lost a little, but at the head of the stretch they were on even terms, and came home like a double team until within four lengths of the stand, when Huntress broke for the first time and lost the heat by a neck. Time, 2:38. In the fourth heat, after several attempts, they set off for a most exciting heat. Como broke soon after leaving the wire, and fell back one length, Huntress and Placeda going together around the turn and half way down the back stretch, when Placeda broke and lost about three lengths. In the meantime Como was closing the gap, and at the half mile post was lapped on the wheel of Huntress; but here he lost his feet again, and fell back one length. On entering the home stretch, he was almost even again, but could not hold the place, and Huntress kept the lead, crossing the score four lengths ahead of Como, who was about that distance in the lead of Placeda. Time, 2:39½. The last half was trotted at the rate of 2:35, and as Huntress won the heat easily she became a warm favorite in the pools.

Between heats a purse was offered for the horse that could trot nearest to three minutes. Four horses were entered—Rosco, Rustic and two unnamed. Rustic came in first in exactly three minutes, while Rosco was less than half a second behind. The unnamed horses came in five seconds behind.

The original race was then resumed, and Huntress got the start and won the fith heat, race and first money. She made but one break. Como was second, and got second money, and Placeda second money. Time, 2,39.

His physician says that it will take some time to correctly ascertain the true nature of the accident.

How a Minister was Robbed.

WHEATLAND, August 29th.—The Methodist church of this place has been holding a camp-meeting about a mile from Wheatland, which has been the scene of an unusual occurrence. After the meeting last night a man approached the Rev. Mr. Stroball, of San Francisco, and asked him if he would not pray for him. The reverend gentleman at once prayed, and after some time the man asked him to come with him, as he had a sister and brother on the ground for whom he also wished him to pray. The Rev. Mr. Stroball at once went, and when a short distance from the camp the man ordered Mr. Stroball to throw up his hands and deliver over his watch and chain, and what money he had, which request was at once complied with, he handing over a watch and chain valued at $150. A pistol was held at the head of Mr. Stroball for some distance, and he was ordered back to camp. The officers are now out hunting up the robber, and it is hoped they will be successful.

New Fruit Cannery.

NEWCASTLE, August 29th.—A Wheeler cannery, having a capacity of canning 120 dozen cans of fruit per day, has been placed by the Fruitgrowers' Association in the basement of their building, and to-day it was in full blast, doing excellent work. Fruit can be cooked and canned in glass jars as safely as in tin cans, which was proven to-day.

The Pistol in Colusa County.

ARBUCKLE, August 29th.—This morning Charles Allen and Dick Pearson quarreled over a game of cards. Allen flourished a pistol, which was discharged, the bullet inflicting a severe flesh wound in the thigh of Charles Marsh, a well-to-do rancher who was standing by watching the game. The ball has not been found, but the surgeons think the wound not dangerous.

OREGON.

Destructive Forest Fires.

PORTLAND, August 29th.—Forest fires yesterday afternoon destroyed Ames' chapel and parsonage, eight miles southwest of the city. Loss, $1,200; no insurance. Also Olson's barn, with 40 tons of hay; loss, $1,600, no insurance. Newton Eaton's dwelling and barn; loss, $1,000; no insurance. John Paxton and a farm hand were driving to town with two loads of hay, which caught fire and were destroyed, together with the wagons. In trying to detach the horses, Paxton was severely burned. The usual forest fires have prevailed all summer in the coast range and Cascade mountains, but this is the first loss reported in Willamette valley, which was caused by a sudden breeze from the north.

Shooting Affray at Astoria.

ASTORIA, August 29th.—James Gardiner and Frank Horn, employed in Stephens' Varieties, quarreled over a woman, and made targets of each other at 3 o'clock this morning. Police officer Steabb, attempting to arrest them, was was shot by Horn through the right lung. He is now in the hospital, with the chances against his recovery. Horn was shot in the left side—a flesh wound only—and is now in jail. Gardiner was shot through the left hand and right arm, and is in the hospital. Steabb is a good officer and citizen. If his wound is mortal, Horn's life is not worth insuring. Both he and Gardiner belong to that disreputable class which any community is well rid of.

Held to Answer—Effective Dredging.

PORTLAND, August 29th.—The preliminary examination of William Van Damme, charged with an attempt to murder his wife last Wednesday night, was concluded to-day, and Van Damme was held to answer before the Grand Jury in the sum of $3,000, in default of which he was committed to the County Jail.

The steamer Walla Walla finished the work of scouring St. Helen's bar to-day, having secured a channel fifteen feet wide and twenty-five feet deep at the lowest tide, and she will commence work to-morrow at Walker's Island, the only remaining bar in the Columbia river, and will cut through in two days. The effectiveness of the work at St. Helen's bar exceeded the most sanguine expectations, and is a revelation both to the Government engineers and to all river men. Ships drawing twenty-two feet will now be able to reach Portland without lightering at the lowest stage of water.

Coroner's Jury—Prospector Drowned—The Astoria Shooting Affair—Sawmill Burned.

PORTLAND, August 29th.—The Coroner's Jury in the Petch case are sitting with closed doors at Lafayette, admitting no one but witnesses. The Oregonian's correspondent saw one juryman who said they had made important discoveries.

A Stevens Creek, Montana (Northern Pacific front), special says: John Case, a prospector, was drowned to-day, while attempting to cross Clark's Fork in a leaky boat. His wife and babe are en route from Santa Fe to join him.

The Oregonian has the following particulars of the Astoria shooting affair: When Steabb heard the shots he ran to the entrance staircase inside the door. Horn was shooting down stairs at Gardiner. Steabb, a large, powerful man, climbed an awning-post to enter an up-stairs front window to arrest Horn, who saw him, and fired, and Steabb ran his hand through a window-pane and returned the fire, hitting Horn in the side, and the latter retreated to the woman's room. Steabb followed, and as he leaned forward to look in Horn fired the probable fatal shot. Steabb staggered against a hall partition, and Horn escaped by a back window and made his way to his room, where he was arrested by Chief of Police Langhry. Steabb has a wife and babe.

A large sawmill at Newaukum, W. T., was burned last night. Loss, $10,000; no insurance.

ARIZONA.

"Boss" Hesing of Chicago Murdered.

TUCSON, August 29th.—A Star special from Hermosillo, Sonora, Mexico, says A. C. Hesing, of Chicago, known as "Boss" Hesing, was murdered by the Apaches last Saturday, on the rancho Gobelan, Sonora. No particulars have been received.

[SECOND DISPATCH.]

TUCSON, August 29th.—The Star has advices from parties just arrived from Magdalena, Sonora, that Jose Ortiz, brother to the Governor, states that Hesing was killed by his servant on the road to his mine, where he was going with $2,000 to pay off his men. He had been in the habit of taking a body guard with him, but was assured by his servant that it was unnecessary. Report says that when found his skull was crushed and face badly mutilated.

Another Raid of Apaches.

CALABASAS (via Tucson), August 29th.—A band of unknown Apaches raided the valley early this evening, and it is reported have killed quite a number of men, women and children, amounting to 20 in all. They have taken all the ranches from Calabasas to the line, and the people are coming into Calabasas for safety. Ju's band have crossed the line to Arizona, and it is believed that he it is who is raiding the settlements. Captain Madden, commanding at Fort Huachua, is in pursuit of the Indians raiding the Santa Cruz valley. The killing of Martinez and family yesterday occurred only fifteen miles south of the tragedies reported from Calabasas.

Found Dead—Operations of the Apaches—Escape of a Desperado.

TOMBSTONE, August 29th.—Frank Marsh, a well known character of Tombstone, was found dead in his house this morning. Circumstances point to poison or suicide.

The Epitaph's Huachuca correspondent states that a courier from Santa Cruz gives an account of the killing of two persons by Indians and a general raid of the hostiles in the valley. A company of cavalry have been sent from the post to investigate. The Apaches attacked a party of American miners 25 miles south of Fronteras, Sonora, on Tuesday of last week. One man, named George Piefenstal, was killed, and Peyson Barnes wounded. The others intrenched themselves behind a wagon and stood off the savages for several hours. The hostiles retired at night, and the miners returned to Fronteras. Colonel Fores and 40 Mexican troops are pursuing the savages.

A ruffian named Koehler entered a store in Ramsey Canyon, Huachua mountains, a week ago, and made two old men dance at the point of a pistol. He was arrested Monday and tried before Justice of the Peace Wardell. The Court took a recess, and the prisoner requested permission to go in company with an officer to his house for dinner. This was granted. At the house he got the drop on the officer, and made him return alone, and he has not been heard from since.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Shot and Killed for a Burglar.

OLYMPIA, August 29th.—This morning, about 2 o'clock, a logger named Andrew J. McLare, while in an intoxicated condition, in some unaccountable manner gained entrance to the hallway of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s office. The wife of Mr. Stevens, the agent, was awakened by the noise of some one trying to gain an entrance through the inner door (which led to the sitting-room The noise continuing, Mrs. Stevens awoke her husband, who demanded who was there, and repeatedly ordered him away. No satisfactory answer being returned to his inquiries, and the party still endeavoring to force the door, Mr. Stevens in his own defense felt obliged to fire, and the bullet passed through the panel of the door, entered the body of the man outside, killing him almost instantly. A Coroner's jury was impaneled this morning, who, after a short deliberation, brought in a verdict of justifiable homicide. The further hearing of the case will be had before a Justice. Unfortunately the man who was killed was not a professional burglar, but rather an inoffensive man, who was much addicted to the use of liquor, which eventually resulted in his untimely death. No one can regret the occurrence any more than Agent Stevens, but the opinion generally prevails that he could have acted otherwise, all the circumstances being taken into consideration. Deceased was a resident of Oyster Bay, in Mason county, about 50 years old, and was married to an Indian woman in that vicinity.

Verdict of a Coroner's Jury—Jubilation of Citizens—No Primaries.

WALLA WALLA, August 29th.—The inquest over the body of Allen, killed Friday week, was concluded to-day. The verdict of the jury was that he came to his death from the effects of a gunshot wound from a pistol in the hands of a soldier by the name of Reynolds, now confined in the County Jail.

Work was commenced this morning on the new railroad to connect Walla Walla with the interior. Citizens sent the following dispatch to Mr. Villard: "Your promise to the city of Walla Walla relative to a railroad line to connect us with Pendleton is made good in the work of construction this day commenced. Please accept the thanks and confidence of our people, who are well pleased and jubilant over it, for it will do immense good for the city." Cannons are being fired in commemoration.

Three precincts in this county did not hold primary elections, and will be without delegates in the County Convention, unless appointed there.

A Stranger Drowned.

SEATTLE, August 29th.—F. J. Houner, a stranger, was drowned in Samamish slough, back of this city, Saturday. He was sailing a boat up the stream, when he lost his balance and fell overboard. Those with him tried to save his life, but without success. The body was recovered.

BERKEY BUSINESS.

THE COUNTY CLERK'S AFFAIRS IN A STILL WORSE TANGLE

The Tale of a Sack—The Queer Way in Which the County Treasurer Does Business.

County Clerk Berkey's business affairs seem to be getting more and more involved. It was bad enough that having received given sums of money, as distinctly indicated on judgment rolls by dollars and cents, he failed to pay them over to the judgment creditors; bad enough that his own plain and specific receipts to the State Controller should be claimed to constitute such an inextricable account that he could not make payment according to their face; but now, to cover up all these delinquencies, it appears that still other transgressions have been committed. In the last case there has apparently been perpetrated upon a trusting and feeble old gentleman a pitiless fraud. It will be remembered that County Clerk Berkey, nominee for Sheriff, faced the Republican Central Committee on Saturday and hurled a thunderbolt in its midst by the production of a receipt showing that he deposited with D. E. Callahan, County Treasurer, the sum of $2,700 38, to answer for any supposed delinquency. That this receipt staggered the Committee is not to be gainsayed, though in the minds of all correct business men it did not remove the suspicion of improper handling of funds by County Clerk Berkey. The production of the receipt of Mr. Callahan, however, though not signed by him as County Treasurer, and though no one has claimed that he had any right to receive any part of the money in dispute, seemed to answer the grave charges made against Berkey. It also set the curious upon inquiry. A gentleman, interested as a candidate on the ticket with Berkey, went to Mr. Callahan and asked him if indeed he had the money. To his surprise Callahan replied that he had a sack of coin, supposed to contain $2,700. Callahan appeared to be in trouble, and his friend asked the cause. Then it came out that Callahan doubted if the sack contained any such sum. This was on Monday. Callahan said he had been served with an order of the Superior Court to hold the money, whatever amount it might be. At that time he, Callahan, was looking for Berkey and Charles Heisen.

"Why did he want to see them?"

"To get back his receipt for the money." [This receipt was published in full in the RECORD UNION of Monday.]

"Why did he wish it returned?"

"Because of the order of Court and his doubts as to the sum in the sack being $2,700."

"Had he receipted for it without counting it?"

"He had."

This alarmed the inquirer.

"Why did you not count it, Dan?"

"Because Charley Heisen brought it over and said it was a temporary matter, and was put up to show the Central Committee that Berkey had the money, and that it would be withdrawn that evening so soon as the committee adjourned."

This story soon went abroad, and by night it was known that Callahan, according to his own statements, would have the receipt or would kill Berkey, or Heisen, or both. He (Callahan) being in feeble health, was greatly excited, but none the less determined to kill, if the men who held his receipt refused to return it to him. This fact he yesterday plainly, and with great vehemence, stated to a RECORD UNION reporter. He added that he had recovered back the receipt; that he got it from Berkey; that had Berkey refused to return it he would have shot him; that Berkey said if there was not $2,700 in the sack he would make it good. Yesterday a RECORD-UNION reporter called on Mr. Callahan, who made the foregoing statements substantially, in presence of Dugald Gillis and Frank A. Smith. Subsequently, in presence of Clinton L. White, Supervisors Dreman and Blair, Ed. M. Martin, W. E. Gerber, Geo. W. Hancock and a number of others, Mr. Callahan explained to a RECORD-UNION reporter that on Saturday Charles Heisen, a saloon keeper, at the corner of I and Seventh streets, brought into the Treasurer's office the sack for which the receipt was given. That Heisen said it was to be withdrawn about 7 o'clock that evening, and was put up to show the committee that Berkey had the money. Callahan thereupon received the sack and signed a receipt for $2,700 38, without opening the sack, or counting the money. Callahan further said, within the hearing of several, that it has been quite customary for him to receive large sums of money, and receipt for the same, as Treasurer, without counting the same. When the reporter expressed his surprise at this loose method, Mr. Callahan simply said that when packages came from official sources he had often taken it for granted that they were all right. This admission of confidence in humanity surprised even Mr. Callahan's best and closest friends. Mr. Callahan then, by request, brought forth the mysterious Berkey sack. It bore a tag marked "special deposit by T. H. Berkey." Mr. Callahan also produced the receipt, the surrender of which he had forced. The bag of money was then examined. Pieces in it when pressed up against the cloth were from 1-16 to ⅛ of an inch larger all around than a $20 dollar gold piece, and just as large as a silver dollar. A silver dollar taken from the treasury and put under the loose neck of the sack and then measured by like comparison showed a like result. The verdict of all was that silver dollars and not double eagles alone were in the sack. Careful feeling failed also to disclose any evidence of greenbacks or checks in the sack. The package was then weighed, and found to kick the beam at 131 ounces avoirdupois. This would, if the contents are silver, produce but about $142. Mr. Callahan then, by request, brought out $2,700 in gold coin, and that sum being placed in the same scales kicked the beam at about 10 pounds, or 160 ounces avoirdupois. Thus, even if gold is in the sack, it [illegible] 1½ pounds short of $2,700. Seven [illegible] silver dollars, with a half added, on the same scales weighed one pound. The judgment of all present was that either in silver or gold—the sum of $2,700 was not in the sack, and that in fact no more than about $140 or $145 would be found in the bag.

The Republican County Central Committee met yesterday to further consider the Berkey matter, but adjourned for a week, after appointing Felix Tracy, R. J. Merkeley and Thos. Warmby a committee to investigate the story of the sack. Mr. Callahan now holds the bag of coin, whatever it may be in amount, under the order of the Superior Court, and refuses to open or count the money without an order from the Judge of the Court, who has thus far instructed him to keep the seal on the neck of the sack intact. Reporters were unable to find Mr. Berkey yesterday after the weighing of the sack. Just prior to that he refused to make any statements when pressed by one of the fraternity. He did say, however, that the receipt was in a safe place. In this he was correct, as Mr. Callahan, after exhibiting it yesterday, locked it up in the county vault. To one of his fellow candidates who asked him about the sack story, Berkey replied only: "Do you doubt my integrity, sir?" If Mr. Berkey asks the question of the public he will be surprised at the response, and its unanimity. Last evening two RECORD UNION reporters sought Charley Heisen, and this conversation occurred rapidly and in the space of a moment:

"How much money is in that sack?"

"What sack?"

"The sack you gave Callahan for Berkey. It is charged there is but about $140 in it."

"I do not know."

"Don't know how much is in it?"

"I do not."

"How came you to have it?"

"I got it of Berkey."

"Why did you take it to Callahan?"

"Berkey had to go down town and asked me to carry it over to the Treasury, and I did so."

"And you don't know how much is in it?"

"No."

A few moments later a third RECORD-UNION reporter ran into Heisen's saloon and cried out:

"Charley, they say there's only $120 in that sack."

Heisen replied: "Oh, pshaw; there's more than that."

Heisen then begged the reporters to let him alone, as he "had had so much trouble, you know."

At a late hour last night the sack investigating committee was reported as still unable to find Mr. Berkey, but they announced their intention to renew their search again this morning. Late last night Judge Denson signified his willingness to make an order for the opening of the sack, if Mr. Berkey would consent.

REOPENING OF THE THEATER.

The Metropolitan Theater was reopened last evening, after being closed nearly three months, in which time it has been almost entirely rebuilt by direction of its owner, Albert Gallatin. The opening was in effect—and very nearly so in fact—that of the dedication of an entirely new temple of the drama. The history of the Metropolitan Theater has been detailed in a series of articles in the RECORD-UNION during the last few weeks, and a few days ago a specific description of the reconstructed theater appeared in these columns. Last night the new structure was opened for the first time to the public, and was filled by a brilliant and representative audience. The play was "Hazel Kirke," and the company was from the Union Square Theater, New York. With the exception of two characters, the personations were by the same actors that appeared here a year ago, when the play was presented in the old Metropolitan. The exceptions were, the character of Lord Travers, now filled by Mr. Grismer, a well-known and popular actor; and the part of Dolly Dutton, now filled by Miss Ada Gilman. The other characters were presented by Effie Ellsler, Mrs. Kate Denin Wilson, Mrs. E. L. Davenport, C. W. Couldock, Charles Bowser, W. B. Cahill, Edwin Milliken, Frank Weston and a good support. Concerning the method of the troupe with this dramatic idyl the remarks heretofore made fully apply, while the well-balanced company afford the auditors a fine entertainment. The same play will be repeated to-night. Undoubtedly the chief attraction to last night's audience was the interior of the remodled theater, and on this it feasted its eyes. The general verdict was one of warm approval. Under the strong light of innumerable gas jets, the soft tints of the walls, and the floral decorations disposed thereon by the fresco artists, were brought out in all the fullness of the intent of the designers. So, too, with the finish of the upper circle front, the graceful curves and lines of the broad deep dome, the simple ornamentation of the proscenium and its arch, and the rich drapery back of the same—the effect of all was pleasing in a high degree, and more than fulfilled the expectations of architect, owner, builders and painters. The gas hangings are numerous, chaste in design, and yet rich in finish. The drop curtain, already described in these columns, was seen to the very best advantage beneath the blaze of footlights and flashing chandeliers. Of the scenery, one of the new sets was presented to view—an interior or parlor set—and proved to be in keeping with the finish of the entire theater, and was the best set of its class ever seen here. Manager Simmons, it is understood, is to introduce other new scenery as rapidly as he is able to do so. The one inharmonious thing last night was the worn old scenery of the old Metropolitan that the management was compelled to use in certain scenes in the play. The seating of the theater is admirable. The seats in the dress circle and parquet are iron chairs, upholstered in crimson leather-cloth, and having folding bottoms, beneath which is a spring rack for hats and light wraps. This folding seat and the rack find protection from the feet of those in seats to the rear in strong iron guards that prevent any encroachment. The chairs have high iron backs, with the inner side concave and fitting admirably to the back and shoulders. The seats are ornamented in a high degree, and add much to the general pleasing effect. The family circle and gallery are comfortably seated with cushioned benches. The orchestra is well hidden in a deep recess, and the muscular efforts of musicians will no longer intervene between spectator and stage. The acoustic properties of the building proved thoroughly good, and no difficulty was experienced in hearing in any part of the house all that was said on the stage. Some of the front seats of the gallery will have to be raised, as their occupants complained of unability to see the stage from them. This was the single and only complaint heard last evening. Early in the evening some inconvenience was experienced by heat, but arose from mismanagement of the ventilators. When properly opened later the house atmosphere was brought to a proper temperature with ease. Viewed as a whole, the theater is one of the handsomest and best in the State. It will seat 1,200 people, has broad lobbies, numerous exits, handsome open boxes, carpeted aisles, convenient retiring-rooms, a very superior main entrance, is beautifully lighted, is well supplied with the best of ventilating appliances, its ornamentation is pleasing, all its lines graceful, and the whole interior inviting and comfortable. It is now a theater in every way worthy the capital city of the State. Prior to the play last evening, the orchestra played "America," when Walter M. Leman, who played in the old Metropolitan when it opened so many years ago, and who always has been a favorite actor and respected citizen, here stepped before the curtain and recited the following address in strong and feeling tones. He was received with hearty applause and twice interrupted by plaudits of the audience:

When friend to friend returns the grasp that tells
The bliss which heart to heart responsive feels,
The electric spark that flashes from the eye,
As gleams the Aurora in the northern sky,
Such mute but meaning eloquence affords
More utterance than can be found in words.

But I am here to speak; for unto you,
The friends of by-gone years, some words are due;
And if they're fitly spoken, your applause
Should raise an echo worthy of our cause.

Our cause, the Drama, when the somber night
Of barbarism fled before the light
Of Grecian splendor, in the classic land
Where art was born—where Homer's mighty hand
Seized on the magic lyre of poesy,
And swept its chords for immortality;
There, truth, begotten in auspicious hour,
To sway the human soul with wizard power,
To light the path and cheer the heart of man,
The star gemm'd goddess first her course began.

And what has been her course, her teachings? Say,
Are they what slander calls them? Does she lay
A snare for virtue's footsteps? Is her smile
That of a syren—only guilt and guile?
Turn to her records—scan them—naught impedes;
Follow her path, and scrutinize her deeds.

In the long lapse of centuries, whose tide
Has swept o'er systems that have lived and died—
O'er thrones and altars, priests and potentates,
Through chaos, weal or woe, the Drama still
Survives, her glorious mission to fulfill.

The blind fanatic, who, in righteous zeal,
Breaks his Creator's image on the wheel—
And that more odious bigot, who, in spite
Of clearer reason and of truer light,
Hates with a holy hatred everyone
Whose creed a hair's breadth differs from his own
The stony hearted usurer, who rears
His wealth on widows' sighs and orphans' tears;
The shallow empiric, who, with gold in view,
Depletes his patients' veins and pockets, too;
The demagogue, who, with no selfish wishes,
Loves his dear country and her "loaves and fishes;"
The brainless fop, who bursts his stays and dies
For one dear smile from "darling Julia's eyes;"
The fool of fashion and the idle drone,
Who live by thews and sinews not their own;
The solemn blockhead, big with pompous speech;
The casuist, whose metaphysics teach
That wicked means may serve a holy end;
The perjured lover and the faithless friend—
For these the Drama barbs her shining dart
And sends her arrows quivering to the heart.

But for the modest maid, the striving youth,
The faithful teacher and the man of truth;
For stern integrity that walks the road
Of duty, with reliance upon God;
For meek-eyed charity, that thinks no harm;
For honesty, that knows no "itching palm;"
For every noble thought and manly sense,
The Drama pleads with burning eloquence.
When tyrants scourge the bold and bind the free,
The Drama's clarion voice for liberty
Talks to the people, and her tocsin bell
Inspires a Washington or nerves a Tell;
Her purpose still, as when her work began,
To light the path and cheer the heart of man.

In this, her gorgeous temple and her home,
Where youth and beauty, worth and bravery come,
Her priests and flamens now, with grateful mien,
Bid you thrice welcome to the mimic scene.
To keep their altars pure, their worship true,
Devolves on them no more, dear friends, than you.
Watch well the temple, guard the sacred trust,
And while on guard be generous and just.

Judge W. A. Henry, after music by the orchestra, then came upon the stage and, being greeted warmly, read the following lines, written for the occasion by W. A. Anderson:

When Thespis asserted his wonted sway,
  And Avon's Bard proclaimed all the world a stage,
Knowledge, mirth and wit—offsprings of the play—
  Awoke the muse, form'd and fabled a generous age—
The Delphic priestess, whose consecrated shrine
  Open'd the realms of pure dramatic art,
Where golden thoughts are culled from the voice of time
  To instruct and guide and cheer the heart.

History, romance, momus, are in the play combined;
  Before the footlights pass in grand review
The scenes of life—by genius and virtue enshrined—
  To ennoble man and teach us lessons true.
Upon the stage Apollo's brightest genius lives;
  There glory shines like dawn's blue rays,
Which interprets the words our wondrous Shakespeare gives,
  And to-night recalls the light of halcyon days.
Here we find the laurel wreath of fame
  Entwined 'pon our greatest artists' brows—
Where Booth, McCullough, O'Neil, achieved a name,
  As they in turn each tragic scene arouse.

That old stage—upon which these artists spoke—
  Now gone! but beauty takes its place.
Still the spirits of the past right here invoke
  The remembrance of each knightly face;
'Tis here the refinement of this polished age,
  Where we behold the chaste and classic lay,
Is cleansed all impurity from the stage,
  And virtue—in all its grandeur—here display.

To-night, if from the Elysian fields we call,
  What a line of master spirits would appear!
Sue Robinson's queenly face would illume this hall;
  For her, we bow to Fate, and drop memory's tear.
Edwin Adams, Montgomery, Jennie Mandeville, and more,
  Whose voices and acting hath thrilled us all,
Are with us in spirit, as in days of yore;
  From the abode of the gods answer memory's call.

The vain transitory splendor of these walls
  In time will crumble, moulder and decay;
Not so, the actor, whose words in livid accents falls
  Upon the recollection of the distant future day.
The stage is the store-house of the historic past—
  The handmaid of poesy and dramatic art;
We mortals throng to it, as to a grand repast,
  To feed the mind, and revive a sinking heart.

The curtain goes up—life's scenes unfold
  In mimic trials of laugh and woe.
The world as it is we plainly behold,
  Realizing again, "All is but a fleeting show."

The drama's friends, to-night, bid its reign renew.
  For tragedy, mirth and useful show,
Holds the mirror up to nature plain to view,
  And bids radiant virtue arise from woe.

"The greeting is over, the ancient rule obey'd,
  The drama's homage by her herald paid."

The production was received with complimentary applause. In conclusion it is proper to add that the manager last evening, D. J. Simmons, evinced a desire to do everything possible to make the opening a success and to add to the pleasure and comfort of the auditors. The programme of the evening was a neat four-page card, with a vignette on the first page and a salutatory on the third, and was entitled "The Lorgnette," and issued as the official house programme. George H. Francis is Treasurer of the new theater, William Morrill and Theodore Manners machinists, and H. S. Beals chief usher.

Albert E. Leonard, of this city, was married Monday evening at 606 J street, in this city, to Miss Louisa Inhof, of Folsom, Rev. T. S. Dunn officiating. Miss Katie A. McKernan, Mrs. C. Schlingheyde, George Imhof and J. H. Smith, Jr., of Folsom, were present. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful.

B. T. Carr, a train dispatcher of this city, and Miss Amy Childs, of Allen Springs, who were married at the latter place day before yesterday, have many friends in this city, a portion of whom upon hearing of the happy event, met and passed the following as an expression of their regard and sympathy: Whereas, a Child's innocent glance and winsome smile has removed from us our most genial, agreeable and social friend and companion, B. T. Carr; whereas, we have walked, talked, slept, eat and drank together in our many meanderings about town in search of fun, frolic and pleasure, a thing we sometimes found and sometimes didn't, make us miss you, dear boy, all the more; therefore, be it Resolved, That while we sincerely regret and sorrowfully know that we shall miss your shapely form, your pearly smile and seven by nine assessment, nevertheless, we bow to the will and seductive innocent ways of a Child's happy influence in being able to switch so handsome a Carr from our reckless track to one more evenly and better balanced. May the engineering influence of so gentle and loving a Child be ever used to keep the track clear, and always be ready to down brakes when a domestic obstruction appears upon the matrimonial track. If your Carr goes down the grade too rapidly, fail not to turn the brakes of kindness, gently but firmly on, so that he may never desire or wish to leave the loving embrace, tender touch and musical voice of a Child's influence. Finally and sincerely be it Resolved, That we, one and all, wish Mr. and Mrs. Carr all the unalloyed and unadulterated happiness that can possibly be bestowed upon a person in this troublesome and sinful world. We all hope that your train, though just made up, may grow in size, and both of you be the happier for it, and when you near the end of this life's track, that you can truthfully say you have kept your train well manned, and can see nothing done in the past that you could improve upon if you had your matrimonial train to run over again.

The Murdered Politician.

CHICAGO, August 29th.—A. C. Hesing, whose murder near Hermosillo, Sonora, Mexico, is announced by telegraph, is well known throughout the Northwest in political circles. He was a native of Oldenburg, Prussia. At 23 years of age he emigrated to America, in 1839, and came to Chicago, at which place he entered political life. He held several city and county offices, including that of Sheriff, and became financially interested in the Staats Zeitung, the leading German daily of the city, in 1862, and secured a controlling interest in it in 1867. From that time for ten years he practically dictated to the Republican party in Chicago, and to a great extent in Illinois. In 1877 he became interested in silver mines in Arizona, which did not prove a success, and two years ago took an interest in mines in New Mexico, where he killed his partner in the enterprise three years ago. Telegrams for particulars have been sent by his son, now manager of the paper, but no replies have been received thus far.

Good Babies.

'Tis a jolly day from East to West,
For children thrive, and mothers rest,
The darling girls all named Victoria,
And with the boys, they have Castoria.
It is a fact, there is no "may be,"
A mother's milk can't save the baby,
While sweet Castoria digests their food,
Gives them health and makes them good.

Texas Lands.

FORD & KELSEY HAVE ON HAND large bodies of CHOICE FARMING and GRAZING LANDS in Taylor county and the adjoining counties in Texas. They represent a large quantity of well-selected State school lands, and can afford to sell these lands on very reasonable terms and on twenty years' time. Their lands vary in price from $1 10 to $3 per acre, according to location, quality of land, etc. They would respectfully request all persons making investments in that portion of Texas to call on them. They already have gained a large share of California patronage from Californians who have visited northwest Texas, and the reason for it one can readily imagine. E. M. Ford has been a resident of Taylor county for five or six years, and is thoroughly acquainted with the county and all the counties immediately surrounding Taylor. F. M. Kelsey has been a resident of that county for somewhat over a year, and has made the soil and peculiarities of Texas a study. Any information desired will be gladly furnished. San Francisco Produce Market.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 29th—1 P. M.

FLOUR—Liberal purchases are reported on Chinese account. Prices are somewhat easier than a week ago. Best City Extra, $5 37½@5 50; Superfine, $4 50@4 75; Interior Extra, $4 75@5 25; Interior Superfine, $3 75@4 ⅌ bbl.

WHEAT—Beyond the fact that the market keeps steady there is nothing of interest to report. Shippers bid low, and offer to sell in round lots at almost equally low rates. But as there is no outside speculative feeling, the situation is a comparatively quiet one. Farmers seem to be in no hurry to realize, and until receipts become liberal, the volume of spot business must necessarily be circumscribed. We hear of sales of small choice parcels at $1 72½, but they were bought for cracked Wheat. Ordinary milling cannot be had below $1 70, and this figure is also the asking rate for No. 1 shipping grades. Tonnage is accumulating, and many parties are hopeful that freights will continue to go down. Foreign advices do not indicate any scarcity at leading distributing centers. Any positive legitimate demand would favorably affect values here. On call to-day the bidding was as follows:

	Bid.	Asked.
No. 1 White—
September	$1 67½	$1 68
October, Port Costa	1 68	1 70
November, Port Costa	1 68½	1 70
No. 1 Sonora—
August		1 70
August, Port Costa	1 71½	1 72½

At the Grain Exchange this afternoon the sales included 500 tons No. 2 September, $1 64; 200 do, October, $1 65; 800 do November, $1 65½; 300 do January, $1 65½ ⅌ ctl.

BARLEY—Business at this moment is very quiet, and the market presents a striking contrast to the active movement of a week or two since. Yesterday's sales footed up only 200 tons, while to-day it was with difficulty that a lot of 100 tons No. 1 Feed was negotiated at $1 32½ for August delivery. The feeling is somewhat weak, and the future will doubtless be largely regulated by the receipts that may come forward during next month. Bidding to-day was as follows:

	Bid.	Asked.
No. 1 Feed—
Spot	$1 26	$1 32½
August	1 31	1 33
September	1 25½	1 26½
October	1 25½	1 27
November	1 26	1 27½
Seller 1882	1 23	1 24¾
No. 2 Feed—
August	1 27½	1 31

OATS—Supplies are coming to hand rather liberally, though not in excessive quantity. A good clean article is said to be scarce, and would readily command $1 75, while ordinary grades are offered as low as $1 55 ⅌ ctl. A sale of 100 tons No. 1, seller 1882, at $1 47½ ⅌ ctl, represented all the business on to-day's morning call.

RYE—The new crop is not turning out well. Some parties insist that the amount of No. 1 raised this season is almost nominal. Still on call this morning sales were recorded of 500 tons for September at $2 25, and 100 do at $2 ⅌ ctl. In No. 2 descriptions there was some spirited bidding, but the only result was the sale of 50 tons in October at $1 72½ ⅌ ctl. Eastern was offered seller 1882 at $1 73¾ against $1 72½ bid.

CORN—Large White was wanted to-day, and $2 was bid without finding a seller. Yellow is held at about $1 80 ⅌ ctl, though no sales are reported.

BUCKWHEAT—$1 40@1 50 ⅌ ctl.

HAY—Alfalfa, $11@13 50; Wheat, $13@16; Wild Oat, $12@15 50 ⅌ ton.

HOPS—40@50c ⅌ lb for good to choice.

SEEDS—Mustard, $2 50@2 62½ for Brown, and $1 90 @2 for Yellow; Canary, 5@5½c; Hemp, 6c; Rape, 2¼@3c; Timothy, 7@8c for native, and 9@10c for imported; Alfalfa, 10@12½c; Flax, 2¾@2¾c ⅌ lb.

POTATOES—Sweet sold to-day at irregular rates. Some choice lots went as high as $2 12½ by auction, though the general range was said to be $1 50@1 90 ⅌ ctl. Other kinds are unchanged. Early Rose, in sacks, 60@85c; boxes, 80c@$1; Garnet Chile, 90c @$1 ⅌ ctl.

VEGETABLES—There is no diminution in the daily supplies. Market generally well furnished. Marrowfat Squash, $7@10 ⅌ ton; Artichokes, 10c ⅌ dozen; Parsnips, 75c; Beets, 75c; Carrots, 75c; Turnips, 75c@$1 ⅌ ctl; Cauliflower, 60@65c ⅌ doz; Cabbage, 50@75c ⅌ ctl; Garlic, 1@1½c ⅌ lb; Cucumbers, 15@30c ⅌ box; Green Peas, 2@3c ⅌ lb; Green Peppers, 50@75c ⅌ box; Tomatoes, 20@40c ⅌ box; Spinach, 25c ⅌ sack; Celery, 50c ⅌ dozen; Summer Squash, 30@50c ⅌ box; String Beans, 3c ⅌ lb; Green Corn, 5@10c ⅌ dozen; Okra, 50@75c; Egg Plant, 50@75c ⅌ box.

FRUIT—Peaches are in good request and choice lots bring top rates. Watermelons and Cantaloupes are very plentiful and cheap. Grapes are also in large supply and low in price. Good Plums are finding better custom. Lemons and Limes are a trifle cheaper. Apples, 25@50c ⅌ bskt and 50c@$1 ⅌ box; Pears, 25@40c ⅌ basket and 40@60c ⅌ box; Bartlett, 50@75c ⅌ basket and $1@1 50 ⅌ box; Nectarines, 75c@$1 ⅌ box; Strawberries, $10@12 ⅌ chest; Raspberries, $10@12 ⅌ chest; Peaches, 35c@$1 ⅌ box and 30@60c ⅌ basket for common and 75c@$1 15 for Crawford; Figs, 40@75c ⅌ box; Grapes, 35@50c for common, 50@75c for Black Hamburg, 50@75c for Rose of Peru, and 60@90c ⅌ box for Muscat; Plums, 25@75c ⅌ box; Blackberries, $4@5 ⅌ chest; Apricots, 2@3c ⅌ lb; Watermelons, $3 50@9 ⅌ 100; Cantaloupes, 75c@$1 25 ⅌ crate; Lemons, $8@9 ⅌ box for Sicily and 5 c@$1 ⅌ box for California; Limes, $10@11 ⅌ box for Mexican; Tamarinds, 12@15c ⅌ lb; Bananas, $2@3 50 ⅌ bunch; Pineapples, $6@8 ⅌ dozen; Tahiti Oranges, $35@45 ⅌ 1,000.

HONEY—Comb, 14@17c; extracted, 7@9c ⅌ lb.

BUTTER—Arrivals of medium qualities are quite free, but the demand is very good, and no large accumulation of stock is reported. Fancy, 40c; choice, 35@37½c; fair to good, 26@32½c; inferior lots from country stores, 23@25c; firkin, 29@31c for good to choice new, and 25@27½c for ordinary; pickled roll, 30@32½c; Eastern, 20@25c ⅌ lb.

CHEESE—Buyers still have the advantage. California, 12½@13½c for choice; 10@12c for fair to good; do, factory, in boxes, 15@16c; Eastern, 16@17c; Western, 11@13½c ⅌ lb.

EGGS—The late advance is well sustained. California choice, 32@35c; Interior, 25@30c; Western, 22½@27½c ⅌ dozen.

WOOL—We are informed that the aggregate transactions for the past week foot up a respectable total. Considerable quantities of both poor and good grades of California changed hands. One firm admits having sold some 250,000 lbs, consisting chiefly of fair San Joaquin and some poor Southern burry and heavy, all at prices within our quotations of this class of stock. Poor Oregons are said to be obtainable even at our inside figure.

J. G. Landini has been tried in the Police Court for having salmon in his possession out of season. The defendant stated that he had purchased it upon the day after the season closed, and the Judge charged that if the defendant had it at the time charged by the purchaser, it would be the duty of the jury to find the defendant guilty. In spite of this the jury found a verdict of not guilty.

Herman Heiken, a resident of Sutter county, in 1879 borrowed $4,000 from John B. Nannen, also a resident of that county, on his individual note. Nannen died in Heiken's house, and just before his death presented Mrs. Heiken with the note and mortgage for her services in nursing and caring for him. Nannen's executors sought to recover possession of the note by suit before Judge Keyser, in Marysville, but were unsuccessful. An appeal was made to the Supreme Court, which on Monday sustained the judgment of the lower Court, holding that the note, payable to order, might properly be the subject of a gift, causa mortis, and the assignment of the note carried the mortgage with it.

SUMNER, AHOY!

What Have You to Say in Response to This?

[Stockton Mail, August 25th.]

To the Editor of the Mail—Sir: I understand that in his speech last evening on Hunter-street Square, Charles A. Sumner, candidate for Congressman-at-Large, made the assertion that the employes of the Central Pacific Railroad Company vote only at the bidding of that corporation. As I was attending at Billy Emerson's minstrels (a better performance than the agile flopper was giving free gratis under the folds of the flag that I fought for and that a large majority of Mr. Sumner's adherents fought against), I have but the word of bystanders, who may have misunderstood the speaker; but I take this opportunity to say that, if he did make such an assertion, he is a liar in his throat! It is no new lie, but one that has gone uncontradicted long enough; and on behalf of my own manhood and that of my fellow-workers in a field of industry that is certainly as honorable as is any that the professional office-seeker has ever occupied, I brand the assertion as a lie, and defy the liar! I will venture to say that the railroad profession (if such it may be termed) embodies in its personnel as much independence, manhood and honesty as any other profession, and I hear assert that the intelligence of railroad men everywhere is on a par with that of the workers in any other business, and free speech does not permit any man to stand up in a public place and, with a barbaric yawp that wakes the echoe of the foothills, insult a class of men who are in every sense his superiors.

I have been an employe of the Central Pacific Railroad for eight years, amid various political complications, and no word has ever been said to me nor to any man a co-worker with me as to how or for whom he or I should vote. Mr. Sumner knows, if he knows anything, that there are Democratic employes of the railroad company who [illegible] conventions for such slander[illegible]is, and no one says them nay! [illegible]y thing demanded from employes of [illegible]ral Pacific Railroad is that they have [illegible] and the industry to use them—somethi[illegible] not always found in politicians—and on behalf of the thousands of honorable men who work for a corporation that pays them what they are worth and when their wage is due, I wish once for all to place the statement on record, that the Central Pacific Railroad does not influence the vote of its employes; that if it has occasion to use its "influence," it is the popular supposition that it is exerted on such demagogues and slanderers as Mr. Sumner after they are elected to office; its employes meanwhile being allowed all the privileges outlined in the Declaration of Independence, including life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, very few of them, I am happy to add, attempting to find these boons in the ranks of the Democratic party.

Agent of the Central Pacific Railroad Company.

Although No Positive Evidence.

Inactivity of the kidneys is a symptom of the approach of more serious trouble, and is among those indicia, therefore, which it is very unsafe to disregard. A good stimulus is given by but few medicines to those delicate organs when they become torpid, but prominent among those which renew activity without producing irritation is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It invigorates as well as gives an impulse to the action of the kidneys and bladder. In diseases involving liver disorder, in which the kidneys take up an unnatural quantity of bile from the blood, the Bitters exercise a purifying influence, and tend to restore both secretions to a healthful condition. Malarial fevers, for which the Bitters are one of the finest known specifics, are also prevented by it, as are also chronic constipation and dyspepsia.

"So that's Congress water, is it?" exclaimed Deacon Brown with ineffable disgust, as he ejected the water from his mouth. "Well, p'raps 'tis; but you can't make me believe Squire Smith ever drinks any o' that stuff, unless he disguises it in old rye purty thurerly."—[Boston Transcript.

AYER'S AGUE CURE has saved thousands of lives in the malarial districts of this and other countries. It is warranted a certain and speedy remedy, free from all harmful ingredients.

An Iowa college graduate stated in his erudite essay that "journalism is the grave of genius." The next thing we shall hear of that young man will be that he is grubbing it as a reporter on some country paper, trying his best to earn enough to purchase a lot in the cemetery.—[New York Commercial Advertiser.

A Baptist clergyman complains that the boys are drifting away from the church, and greatly fears the boys of the future will be non-church-goers. Other denominations are inclined to think that if there was not so much water used the boys would not drift so much. They might be anchored more easily.—[Pittsburg Telegraph.

Cuticura

Mr. Albert Kingsbury, Keene, N. H., troubled with bad humor on hands and neck, caused by lead poisoning (he's a painter). At times it would break out, crack open, and the skin separate from the flesh in large pieces, suffering great continual itching and stinging. Purchased your remedies; used CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and in less than three months effected a complete cure, and has not been troubled since. Corroborated by Bullard & Foster, druggists, Keene, N. H.

MOTHER DIED FROM IT.

J. W. Adams, of Newark, Ohio, says: "Cuticura Remedies are the greatest medicines on earth. Had the worst case of salt rheum in this county. My mother had it twenty years, and in fact died from it. I believe Cuticura would have saved her life. My arms, breast and head were covered for three years, which nothing relieved or cured until I used the CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally."

PSORIASIS.

H. E. Carpenter, Esq., Henderson, N. Y., cured of Psoriasis or Leprosy, of twenty years' standing, by the CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally. The most wonderful case on record. Cure certified to before a Justice of the Peace and prominent citizens. All afflicted with itching and scaly diseases should send to us for this testimonial in full.

SALT RHEUM.

Those who have experienced the torments of Salt Rheum can appreciate the agony I endured for years until cured by the CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally.
MRS. WM. PELLINGTON, Sharon, Wis.

CONDENSED COAST NEWS.

Lane county, Oregon, contains 3,745 children of school age.

Five thousand cords of wood will be cut this year in the vicinity of Truckee.

The total assessment of the property of Spokane county, W. T., is $2,083,248, of which $452,706 is railroad property.

Fishing at Tahoe is poorer now than it has been at any time this season. Enough are being caught to supply the hotel tables, but scarcely any are being shipped.

Two weeks ago the railroad hands in Montana were working with mosquito nets over their faces and gloves on their hands. Now not a mosquito is to be seen.

The Sutter county Farmer has the biggest instance of wheat production yet. James Merrick, of Meridian, got from a little less than 18 acres of Sonora wheat 447 sacks, of an average weight of 146 pounds to the sack—83 bushels to the acre.

W. R. Todhunter, who lives in Grant county, Oregon, and whose herds are numbered by tens of thousands, is building a barn. The walls are of stone. It takes 80,000 shingles to cover the roof and 32,000 feet of lumber for cross-beams, rafters, etc.

The stock exhibition in connection with the Territorial Fair at Olympia, W. T., will be held at the fair grounds on the 28th of August; races will commence August 29th. The exhibits of grains, fruits and industrial articles will take place some time in October.

Joseph White, of Bake-Oven, Wasco county, Oregon, began as a sheep-herder in that region, without funds, five years ago. He recently sold out his band of sheep for $6,300. From his this year's shearing he sold from 678 ewes $1,158 worth of wool, and raised 478 lambs.

A rather curious accident happened to a farmer by the name of Sayers, on Saturday at Grass Valley. He undertook to unhitch his team from in front of Hodge's brewery, when one of the animals pressed him so hard against a tree that both his collar bones were broken.

One man in New Mexico, five years ago, invested in cows, calves, horses, etc., for ranch use and buildings, etc., to run said ranch, $6,950, and at the end of said time he sold out his stock, ranch, etc., for $24,002 50, leaving him a clear profit over all expenses in five years of $17,052 50, the increase of cattle in that time being 85 per cent.

Melon stealers near Mendocino city have gone so far as to haul away wagon loads, and in several instances have destroyed large numbers of melons. The ranchmen decided to put a stop to the vandalism, and placed gun-traps in the melon patches and orchards. Until last Sunday night the young men who have been engaged in making these nocturnal visits met with no mishap, but since then several of them have devoted all their spare time to picking out bird shot.

A correspondent of the Austin (Nev.) Reveille is of the opinion that the strange animal mentioned as infesting Yankee Blade of nights and killing and eating all the domestic cats at that suburban locality must be a carcajou. This animal is somewhat rare, but has been occasionally met with in the Sierra Nevada mountains. One was killed three or four years ago near the head of Carson river. The carcajou is a predatory, carnivorous animal, looking like a diminutive cinnamon bear, only much darker.

Last Saturday, says the Elko (Nev.) Independent, while handling cattle in the railroad corral at Wells, Andrew Harrell, a son of Jasper Harrell, the well known stock man, met with a singular and painful accident, which might have proved fatal. Young Harrell was in the corral, mounted, forcing the cattle, which were very wild, into the chute leading to the cars, for loading. A big broad-horned steer, becoming frantic, attempted to jump over Harrell's horse, and in the endeavor impaled the rider on the point of one of his horns, by catching him just under the chin and raising him clear of the saddle. Unfortunately the horse maintained his position, and as the infuriated steer descended from his aerial flight, young Harrell came down astride his horse's withers, which released him from impalement. The sharp horn penetrated some distance in the flesh, making a severe but not dangerous wound.

W. H. Ware, of Meadow Lake mining district, says the Truckee Republican of August 26th, has bonded his three mines for $60,000, to Franklin Fenney, of Philadelphia. Mr. Fenney will immediately put a large force of men at work on the mines, and add machinery and improvements. the names of the bonded mines are the Empire, Excelsior, and the Pacific Ledge of the New York mine. We understand that Mr. Fenney came from the East for this purpose, and that he is acting as agent for a large mining firm. It is probable that the district is going to have another test, and a good, substantial one. What process will be employed for the reduction of the ore we do not know, but it is not probable that people will come clear across the continent without knowing what they are undertaking. Mr. Fenney spent several days at the mines last week. He was in Truckee Monday evening and the papers were drawn up.

HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE, a refreshing drink. Dr. C. O. Files, Portland, Me., says: "After perspiring freely, when cold water has utterly failed to satisfy my thirst, it has accomplished the purpose with the most perfect success."

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

ADVANCING years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

☞ AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stablished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair

The VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft luster and richness of tone it imparts.

DR. SPINNEY & CO.,

The Celebrated Specialists, of No. 11 Kearny street, San Francisco,

—HAVE OPENED A—

BRANCH OFFICE,

—AT THE—

Western Hotel,

ROOM 17, SACRAMENTO,

Where they can be consulted for a short time. Balance of treatment can be conducted with the Home Office.

DR. SPINNEY, well known as the founder of the Montreal (C. E.) Medical Institute, and late proprietor of the SPINNEYVILLE INFIRMARY, would most respectfully inform his patients and the afflicted generally, that he still continues to treat chronic and nervous diseases with unparalleled success.

YOUNG MEN

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or Private Disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

Office hours—10 to 4 and 6 to 8. Sunday, from 1 to 3 P. M. Consultation free. Thorough examination and advice, $5. Call or address above, or
